

My name is Musisi. I love happiness, positivity and humans. This is why I enjoy the field of caregiving. On one hand, caring for elderly adults is a wonderful privilege, it almost feels like they're a grandparent. On the other hand, exchanging knowledge with other caregivers as Caregiver Liaison not only helps me grow, but also brings about encouragement and purpose.

I have an ideal picture of what kind of a person I am yet, I still believe other people's experience of me also matters. I consider myself fortunate to have been described by others as kind, intelligent, professional, compassionate, patient, dependable, a problem solver, as well as a "sister from another mother".
